This discussion forum used to be very active when I was working in Fiitjee. Now, it's inactive.

Access is limited to my students to whom I have given the password required for registration. This is to prevent spammers from joining the forum and filling it with junk.

This discussion forum is a means for my students to interact with me and each other to post their doubts and questions and seek clarification. Right now, I'm not having the free time to moderate this forum, and so I'm not using it with my current students.

Once I get a set of students who will be responsible enough to moderate this forum, I can allow my current students to use this discussion forum.
